DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species I (claims 25-26, and 33-35) in the reply filed on 9/16/04 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 33 and 34, respectively recites the limitation, "the processor" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 25-26, and 33-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by O'Connor et al., U. S. Patent No. 6115476.

Regarding claim 25, O'Connor et al. (herein, O'Connor) discloses an active digital audio/video signal modification to correct playback system deficiencies. O'Connor's disclosure comprises a receiver (201) that receives a video test signal via components (205-207), which reads sending a test signal; a sensor (207), which reads on detecting the signal, therein; and a signal monitor/modifier, which indicates processing the test signal, and producing an adjusted test signal, therein – (figures 2 and 5, col. 4, lines 35-67 and col. 5, lines 1-22, col. 6, lines 1-12, 17-61).

Regarding claim 33, O'Connor discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 25). O'Connor further discloses a computer system, wherein the analysis engine (202) of the computer uses digital signal processing techniques, which constitutes a digital signal processor to process the test signal.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over O'Connor.

Regarding claim 34, O'Connor discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 25). O'Connor fails to disclose an analog signal processor. However, O'Connor indicates that the invention may appear in any of number of monitoring and modification systems (col. 6, lines 58-67). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of O'Connor by implementing analog signal processor to test the signal, wherein analog signal processing is a well known and widely used reliable technique in the art for processing visual or video test signals as desired.

Claim 26 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
